

Italian and Spanish academic e-books Torrossa content update, Spring 2016

Since the beginning of the year, approximately 1,000 new e-books have been added to our bibliographic database www.ilibri.com, with contributions from many major publishers, including, from Italy, Edizioni Quasar, Firenze University Press, Interlinea, Libreria Musicale Italiana, Pisa University Press and Viella, and Editorial UOC, Tirant lo Blanch, Editorial CSIC, Octaedro and Universidad de Alcalá from Spain.

250 new Franco Angeli e-books

Among the most notable recent additions to our digital library are 250 monographic titles published in 2015 by the prestigious Franco Angeli Edizioni. Fifty monographs published in the early months of 2016 will soon be made available, while new material will be released regularly throughout the year.

More Law content from Giappichelli Editore

Some of the latest titles from Giappichelli Editore, a leading publisher of academic books in the fields of Law, Economics, Business and Management, have also been released, with over 90 monographs added to the online catalogue.

All new content has been carefully selected for its academic relevance and covers, principally, the Social Sciences, Art, History and Literature. The titles can be selected and ordered directly online at libraries.casalini.it, in exactly the same way as print publications.

NEW CONTRIBUTORS

We are pleased to welcome three new contributing publishers to the Torrossa digital library: the historical publisher Hoeppli; Aras Edizioni, an innovative publisher specialising in the Humanities and Edizioni Qiqajon. In the near future, content from Pacini Editore will also be made available online.

FUTURE PROJECTS

We are currently compiling a collection of Italian academic publishing in the English language. The aim of this collection is to make quality Italian research available to a wider community of scholars unfamiliar with the Italian language.
