Our new Digital Library now online

The new look and improved digital library aims to provide the best possible tools and user experience to all our collaborators, customers and library patrons.

Torrossa Digital Library (access.torrossa.com) currently hosts content from over 300 scholarly and highly specialised publishers and university presses, with a vast catalogue focussing in large part on academic content in the Humanities and Social Sciences from Italy and Spain. Our improved interface further facilitates content management by libraries and institutions subscribing to our electronic collections of academic publications and enhance the overall experience of research in a digital environment through state-of-the-art discovery and navigation. The enhancements to the website come in the context of a larger project which has already seen the publication of a new, advanced Torrossa Digital Bookstore (www.torrossa.com), a restyled corporate website and improved content management interface for publishers contributing content to Torrossa.

Our corporate website (www.casalini.it) now provides a wealth of information on our services for libraries and publishers and updates on all of our activities, initiatives and events. A brand new section, Casalini Lab, gives the latest on new and ongoing research and development projects, from our involvement in organising and hosting international conferences to our work in important developments such as open access and linked data.

Torrossa Digital Library receives a newly restyled and enhanced interface as part of an ongoing investment in technological innovation and improving user experience.

Our focus on providing an outstanding user experience is behind the recent update of our website for publishers (publishers.casalini.it). This website offers a personalised interface through which publishers may manage first-hand the content they contribute to Torrossa by consulting the catalogue of all content available, uploading and sending new content easily, downloading sales reports and viewing access statistics.

Work has also begun on designing a new, advanced structure for our website for libraries (libraries.casalini.it), thus concluding the complete renewal of all of our online tools and services. Advanced tools for reporting and statistics will also be added to our management interfaces for both libraries and publishers later in the year.
